

OVERVIEW

Sunwealth is a clean energy investment firm with a mission to invest in the future of energy, generating financial, social and environmental returns for investors and communities. We envision a future where renewable energy is accessible, affordable and inclusive. We invest in that future by financing renewable energy projects across our communities, making it possible for investors to put their money to work directly in diverse solar installations that benefit people and the planet. The Climate Action Business Association awarded Sunwealth its 2019 Achievement Award in recognition of our market-based approach to decarbonization and environmental justice. Sunwealth has also been highlighted in various media outlets such as the Clean Energy States Alliance (CESA) Solar with Justice report and the Energy Gang podcast.

The Director of Accounting will play an integral role on a talented team focused on revolutionizing renewable energy investment. The Director of Accounting will be a key driver of Sunwealth's internal process and strategy. The Director of Accounting shall be responsible for supervising the accounting team, ensuring the accuracy of Sunwealth's financial statements, maintaining the company's adherence to its Accounting Manual and leading Sunwealth through successful annual audits. Additionally, the Director of Accounting will help advise the CEO and CFO regarding risk assessment and sustainable business strategies. This person will have significant exposure to the entire executive team with opportunities for additional growth and advancement.

If you thrive in a collaborative, cutting edge, entrepreneurial environment and are looking for a unique opportunity to join a highly motivated team, with excellent benefits and a casual but results-driven culture - this is the perfect opportunity for you.
