

Eden GeoPower Inc.

05/22/18

The Eden GeoPower Full Stack Blockchain Developer will apply his coding and Blockchain related experience to play a key role in supporting Eden GeoPower's Blockchain department. The developer will work closely with the Blockchain department head to design and build a platform to finance Eden GeoPower's future project. The internship is around 40 hours per week, on a schedule mutually worked out between the intern and Eden GeoPower.

Qualifications:

Responsibilities:

- Design and develop robust backend code and microservices
- Design and develop frontend app
- Develop blockchain related features - smart contracts, wallets, etc.
- Write high quality, reusable code, prevent vulnerabilities
- Write unit, functional and integration tests
- Code reviews

Education:

- Graduate or undergraduate student in Computer/Software Engineering, Computer Science are preferred but not required.

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities:

- Very proficient in JavaScript and HTML languages;
- Familiar with Nucypher, Dharma Protocol and IPFS;
- Knowledge of Blockchain, smart-contracts and cryptocurrencies;
- Self-starter who enjoys working in a team environment;
- Advanced oral and written communication skills;
- Strong independent researcher, available to conduct primary and secondary research;
- Experience with Solidity, a plus;
- Previous office and co-op/internship experience preferred; and
- Interest in clean energy or Blockchain regulation is a plus, but not required.

What we offer:

- Opportunity to build an exciting product with global reach and huge potential;
- Opportunity to have big impact on the product vision and the company as an early employee;
- Opportunity to get commercial experience in development for many different blockchains cryptocurrencies including, but not limited to Bitcoin and Ethereum;
- Flexible hours, remote work;
- Flat organization;
- Transparent and open-minded company culture;
- Salary + Equity;

How to Apply:

Candidates are encouraged to submit a resume and cover letter to this email: recruiter@edengeopower.com

About the Company:

Eden GeoPower is an energy startup company with a mission of promoting green energy technology projects including: converting existing retired oil and gas wells to base load amounts of clean renewable and emissions free electricity with competitive cost; water desalination project using forward osmosis principle; waste heat recovery; redesign of retired geothermal plants to a power production units involving new technology, etc. More information can be found on our web site <https://www.edengeopower.com/>